DEDICATION

To
Vice-Principal Joseph F. Woolery

we dedicate this Annual as a slight mark of the esteem in which he is held by the faculty and the student body.
No doubt you thought you'd read the book from first to last:
Perhaps you thought no single word you'd passed;
And now, perhaps, you're glancing through a second time.
And suddenly your eye spies this poor rhyme,
Which hitherto you did not know existed.

We do not care that this you have not read;
We only wonder what you may have said
When you had finished this, our noble work.
Did words of praise or condemnation lurk
Within your august minds?

We hope you've read the write-ups and the jokes,
Have found the pictures of your friends and folks;
We hope you've kept in mind this dreary fact,
'Twas not material, but funds, we lacked
To make the book more clever.

And now you've turned back to the first again,
You'll find our greeting as sincere as when
Our pen first penned these lines to say to you
That though we've failed in what we tried to do
Our all-absorbing passion was to please the countless

YOU.

Joe leads the class—Alphabetically, in tennis and as a good fellow.
“Now, Socks, if you don’t like it get out and walk.”

AIKIN, GERTRUDE L., Elaine (1-2-3-4), President (4), Class Editor Register (3), Social Editor (4), Senior Council.
“Yet graceful ease, and sweetness, void of pride Might hide her faults, if she had faults to hide.”

ALBACH, SOLON.
Like his ancient namesake, Solon tried to institute a set of new of new laws, but sad to relate they did not meet with the faculty’s approval.

ALLAN, CARLISLE V., “Kyke,” First Lieut. and Adj. First Battalion, Editor-in-Chief Register, Class Sgt.-at-Arms (3), Webster (1-2-3-4), Sgt.-at-Arms (2), Secretary-Treasurer (3), Booster’s Club (4), Senior Council, Chairman Commencement Con., Debating Squad (4), Latin Soc. (1-2), Eligible Com. Compt., Senior Dramatics.
What can we say about ourself? Let our Annual speak for us.

ALFIRN, GOLDIE HENRIETTA, German Society (1), Soprano Vocalist Music Classes.
I bait my hook, and cast my line
And feel the best of life is mine.

ANDERSON, ALBERT.
We cannot say anything too good about Albert for many a time he has pulled us out of a bad place in Chem.
ANDERSON, HELEN M., Lam Ron (4).

Helen looks so jolly, one cannot imagine her as a stern school teacher.

ANDERSON, NELSINE MYRTLE, Lam Ron (4), Reporter (4), Member Program Committee (4), German Society, Sergeant-at-Arms (2).

Myrtle was never positively never known to come to school with an unprepared lesson.

Norris’ school life is like that of many of our greatest men—he has to walk ’steen miles to get to the car. Well, Andy we hope the rest of your life will be like theirs.

Olga’s “O. K.” nickname surely is “O. K.” Indeed “O. K.” is an O. K. girl all the way through.

ANDERSON, RUBY M., “Rube.”

We have yet to see wherein Ruby resembles a “Rube.”

Florence is very fond of jewelry, particularly “Rubys.”
ARRASMITI?, L. PEARL, "Pete," Margaret Fuller (2-3-4), Latin Soc. (2), Lam Ron (4), Sgt.-at-Arms (4).
The only fact that seemed to worry Pete was the fact that teachers would give tests.

"There lies more peril in thine eye, Than twenty of their swords."

BARTA, JAMES C., "Pete," Class Basket Ball (1-2-3-4).
Pete informed us on his honor list that he was "one of the rough-necks of the Bugle Corpse," Not very often, Pete. Look at your absence marks.

Erdice has all the essentials of a graduate. She is a good bluffer, an excellent dancer, and is possessor of a bewitching smile.

BELL, GERALDINE M., Latin Society (4), Pleiades (4).
If we could all translate Latin like Geraldine, we wouldn’t need ponies.

Fritz can talk—oh! heavens how she can talk! And giggle. Therefore all her teachers love her. Yes, No?
BELMONT, ESTHER. Browning Soc. (4), Shakespeare Soc. (4), German Soc. (4), Frances Willard Soc. (1).
Yet she could love, those eyes declare, Were men but nobler than they are? Oh! you suffragette.

BELT, BERTHA LUELLA.
Bertha's writing is so original that Mr. Clausen is seriously contemplating securing a patent for it, with "all rights reserved."

BERRYMAN, ELIZABETH, "Betty." Margaret Fuller (2-3-4), Secretary (4), Eligible Commencement Competition.
Underclassmen are particularly Ernest in their admiration for Betty. But then, we don't wonder, we admire her, too.

BIGELOW, ELLEN LUCILE.
"A maiden so dear Pretty and coy, Averse to all charms And afraid of a boy."

BIGLEY, BLANCHE, Lam Ron (4).
Blanche was a great friend of Mrs. Atkinson, because she was the only one in the first hour class that read outside of the text.

BIHLER, ERNEST, "Pretzel," "Local Editor" of "Commerce," Junior Commercial Club (4), Sec. (4), Reporter Senior Class H. S. of C.
"Oh, there's a heart for everyone, If every one could find it." Ernest has so many girl friends that he stirs up more jealousy among the Commercial girls, than Paris did among the Olympian goddesses.
BLAIR, PEARLE, "Baca," Browning (4),
Lam Ron (4), Secretary (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.
Pearle certainly believes in giving the world the best she has in the way of sweet disposition and pleasant smiles.

BOETTEGER, FRIEDA C., "Pai," German Society (1-2-3-4), Lininger (4), Lam Ron (4), Treasurer and Critic (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.
Frieda has a most amazing collection of Sue long words. Quite the school wonder in this line.

BRADT, HELEN GERTRUDE, L. T. C. (1-2), Lam Ron (4), Secretary (4).
It's a great deal to resist punning "Bradt;" and we do resist only because Helen is such an all round nice girl.

BRAVIROFF, HARRY, German Soc. (1-2), Webster (1).
"Music with unsuspected eloquence can move;"
"And manage all mankind with secret art."
Therefore Harry gets good marks.

BREWSTER, ELSIE MURIEL, Eligible Commencement Competition.
El is hailed from Benson, and when we stop to think of the time she must get up, we marvel how she keeps her sunny disposition.

BROWN, LOVINA ELIZABETH, Latin Society (2-4), Art Society (2), Browning (2-3-4), Associate Editor Oracle (3), Treasurer (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.
"Maiden with the meek brown eyes,
In whose orb a shadow lies
Like the dusk in evening skies."
Also a prize cook.
BURCHMORE, MAREME. "Marry Me," Elaine (1-2-3-4), Sergt-at-Arms (2), Treasurer (3). Mareme thinks it must be leap year every day, every year. Witness her perpetual "Marry me."

BURKENROAD, LESLIE L., "Les," Webster Society (1-2-3-4), Class Track (2-3-4), Capt. (2), Baseball (4), Basket Ball (2-3-4), Captain (4), Class Basket Ball (1), Captain (1), Senior Dramatics. "I vow, Mr. Hardcastle"—"O, Harold, don't you think that Mr. Burkenroad was just like a real actor?" We do too.

BUSK, BLANCHE M., "Sue," Margaret Fuller Society (1-2-3-4), Vice-President (4), Class Editor Register (2), Locals Editors (4). She has two eyes so soft and brown Take care! She gives a side glance and looks down, Beware! Beware!

BYRD, LOLA E., Art (2-3-4), Treasurer (2-3), Browning (1-2-3-4), Editor Oracle (3), President (4), Booster's Club (4), Secretary (4), Secretary of Class (3), Alumni Editor Register (4). "Bright as the sun, here eyes the gazers strike And like the sun, they shine on all alike."

CARNEY, MAE FRANCIS, Hawthorne Society. With thee conversing, I lose all time; All seasons and their change, all please alike.

CATHROE, BELLE T. "Her virtue and the conscience of her worth, That would be wooed, and not won unsought."
Ed was noted for his fondness of English literature, particularly Dickens(on).

"'Tis sweet to think, where'er we may rove
We are sure to find something blissful and dear."
Evelyn has the ability to make friends wherever she goes.

CORBY, MOLLY H., German Soc. (1-2-3-4), Vice-President (4), Hiking (4).
Vilion said "Good talkers are only found in Paris." Gracious! He didn't know Molly.

COOK, CULVER H., "Smiles."
Cook is the cause of more disturbances in first hour history than the rest of the class put together, but that innocent expression of his always throws the blame on someone else.
Ask Craig.

"Sure, that's right."
"My Dear Marlow, but I'll suppress the emotion."
No, Ken, we'll not mention Marie, it's not necessary.

CROCKER, KATHRYN, "Kath," Elaine (2-3-4), Treasurer (4), Class Vice-President (3), Class Editor Register (4), Senior Council, Senior Dramatics.
Kathryn is exceedingly temperate. Is only fond of cocoa.
CLIFTON, EDITH. Shakespeare Soc. (4).
Happy in this, she is not yet so old,
But she may learn.

CUNDIFF, EDITH. Sec. Senior Class H.
S. of C., German Soc. (1-2), Shakespeare
Soc. (4).
"Her voice was music in my ear."

CURRY, CHARLES. "Chuck." First Lieut.
Co. E, Glee Club (3).
Charles plays tennis.
Charles sings.
Charles goes with Kenny.
So much for Charles!

DARLOW, CLARENCE B., Bugle Corps.
Getting excused at two o'clock has become second nature with Clarence.

DAVIS, HERBERT. "Doc." Second Lieut.
and Q. M., Second Battalion, Tennis Team
(2-3), Mandolin Club (4).
"Sometimes I sit and think, and sometimes I just sit."

DAY, MARY E., L. T. C. (1-2-3-4), President
(4), L. S. C. Glee Club (4), Booster's
Club (4), Editor "Societies" on "Commerce," Shakespeare Club (4), Reporter
(4), Eligible Commencement Comp.
Of Days there are seven,
And Mary's the fifth.
She will get to heaven,
Tho' goodness knows when.
DEARMTONT, JESSIE, "Jadie," Vice-Pres. Senior Class H. S. of C., Shakespeare Soc. (4), President (4).
"Two sapphires those dear eyes of thine
Soft as the skies above thee."

Nannie was happy for Weelks. We wonder why?

DENNIS, EUGENIE LUCILE, "Denny,"
Elaine Society (1-2-3-4), Sergt.-at-Arms (4), German Soc. (4), Critic (4), Senior Council.
"Those graceful acts,
Those thousand courtesies, that daily flow
From all her words and actions.

DICKINSON, GERTRUDE, "Trude," Browning (1-2-3-4), Secretary (4), Secretary of Class (4), Senior Council.
"I speak truth, not so much as I would, but so much as I dare, and I dare a little the more as I grow older."

DE BUSE, HELENA ESTELLA, "Lena,"
Art Society (2-3-4), Sergt.-at-Arms (4), Secretary (4), Linger Travel Club (4), Lam Ron (4), President (4).

Seems wisest, most virtuous most discreet, best."

DREXEL, JOHN HANSE, "Johnnie," Capt. Co. E, President C. O. C., Track (2-3-4), Capt. of Track (4), Class Track (1-2-3-4), Capt. of Class Track (3), Webster (1), German Society (1-2).
The first duty of an officer is to obey. Well learned John!
DUNCAN, DORIS ROSALIND, "Smiles."
Vice-President of Class (4), Sergt-at-Arms of Class (3), Senior Council (4), Dom. Science Editor Register (4), Pleiades Society (1-2-3), Treasurer (3), German Society (1-2), Senior Dramatics.
"Listen my children, and you shall hear,
Doris' giggle both far and near.
It pleases the boys, and distresses her teachers,
But it's surely relief for the rest of we creatures,
"Gee, but I feel devilish."

DUNNIGAN, FRANK J., Capt. Band.
Frank trusts anyone who puts up a hard luck tale, usually to find out that he has been "done again." (Dunnigan.)

DURKEE, GEORGE RAYMOND, S. O. S. (2), Glee Club (4), Mandolin Club (4).
The good die young. Ray's friends have no fear, for they have faith in Stowiff's remedy.

DURKEE, JAMES T., "Jim." Lieut. Col. Regiment, Class President (4), Asst. Bus. Mgr. Register (3), Class Editor (4), Track (2), Football (3), Class Basket Ball (2-3-4), Class Track (2-3), Class Treasurer (3), Boosters' Club (2-3-4), Senior Council (4).
James is rather particular in his choice of china—will have nothing but Crocker(y).

EISELE, PEARL.
Pearl is one of the sweetest girls in the class.
She reminds one of a princess in a story book.

Gib never, never walks along like common mortals. He rather stalks slowly along, like a stoical Indian.

Carl's fear of a jinx lost Omaha the state meet.

EVANS, JOHN DWIGHT. "Tech," First Lieut. Co. I, Class Editor Register (1), Treasurer of Senior Class.

Is kept very busy taking care of Senior class money, and of his "rosebud garden of girls."

EWERS, MARIE.

"We know her by her mildness rare,
And by her fragile loveliness."

FEHRS, EDWARD. "Ed," Second Sergeant-at-Arms, Senior Class of H. S. of C.

"I am so young! Must I live all my life time
With neither hopes nor fears?"

"Think not that the heart is devoid of emotion,
Because of a countenance rugged and stern."

FINLEY, ELIZABETH. Hawthorne (1-2-3-4), Reporter (4), President (4), Art Society (1-2-3-4), President (2-4), Booster's Club (2-3-4), Senior Council.

Curiosity once killed a cat. It also caused this write-up to be changed.
FITCH, NELLE CRISSEY.
A girl of unusual ability. She may do most anything, and gain fame, for she has one important factor in a career—an aristocratic name.

Just because of her name; don't think alone is gloomy. On the contrary, she is one of the shining lights in American History. (?)

FRY, ETHEL, Browning (1-2-3-4), Vice-Pres. (4).
"Her looks do argue her replete with modesty."

GARVIN, HELEN, "Bumps," Elaine (1-2-3-4), Sergt.-at-Arms (3), Secretary (4), Art Society, Treasurer (4).
As Bumps parades along the halls,
She never hurries, you know;
She walks along with majestic mien,
And stately tread, and slow.

GEIB, IRMA BARBARA, Hawthorne Soc. (1-2-3-4), Vice-President (2).
"A day for toil, and hour for sport,
But for a friend is life too short."

GIDEON, HARRY D., Capt. Co. C., Sec. C.O. C., Boosters' Club (4), Sergt.-at-Arms (4), Organizations Editor Register (4), Glee Club (4), Webster (1-2-3-4), Sergt.-at-Arms (2), Vice-Pres. (3), President (4).
He flirts, and flirts and—somehow prefers girls who part their hair in the center.
GIES, TACITUS P., Class Basketball (4).
Tacitus! But "a man's a man for a' that."

Bertha's dignified appearance will aid her greatly when she begins teaching the cow-boys in the wild and woolly west.

Mary was draft clerk in Room 19, third hour, at the High School of Commerce. Her one occupation was opening and closing windows. (Joke.)

GOLDBERG, ROBERT.
Robert was beloved by his teachers and had an unrivalled faculty for getting A's.

Determination always meets with success.

CORMLEY, ROBERT E., "Bob."
Bob is as solemn as an Indian—but no wonder, he came from Sioux City.
GRAHAM, HUGH F., Baseball (4).
Hugh is as noisy as an oyster. When Hugh is around no one else has a chance to get a word in edgewise. (?)

HAARMANN, AGNES M., German Society (1-2).
If silence is golden, Agnes should be an heiress; for she is probably the most quiet member of the class.

GRAU, ELIZABETH, "Bessie," German Soc. (1-2), Lininger Travel Club (3-4), Lam Ron (4), Treasurer (4), Vice-President (4).
"Maiden with meek brown eyes." She has never "Grau" eled about anything.

HAGER, RACHEL R., Lininger Travel Club (4), L. T. C. Glee Club (4).
Favours to none, to all she smiles extends. Oft she rejects, but never once offends.

GRIEB, HENRY, "Henny."
Henry liked the Commercial School so well that he wanted to stay there all the time.

HALLER, MARY, Elaine (2-3-4), Eligible Commencement Competition.
"Is thy name Mary, maiden fair? Such should, methinks its music be. The sweetest name that mortals bear, Were best befitting thee."

"Well, now you see it's this way—"
Hammond and Hamlet agree that sorrows come in battalions.

HANIGHEN, JOHN J. JR., Track Manager (4), Senior Dramatics. A real live matinee idol—all the girls are crazy about him.

"I'll bear witness to that."

HARE, HELEN M., P. A. S. (1), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Is she not more than painting can express. Or youthful poets fancy when they love?"

HARRIS, IRENE HENRIETTA, "Rene."
German Society (1-2-3-4), Hiking Club (4).
Irene is the kind of girl to get up and make stump speeches on woman's rights; one cannot imagine her without a ready supply of words.

HENNINGSEN, CHRISTIAN O.

"I don't fuss, but I am fussed, and get fussed."

HEUCK, HELEN. "Hum."
Helen is as sweet and sincere a girl as you would care to find anywhere. Her sincerity has won her many friends.
HINMAN, IRENE R., Latin Society, Priscilla Alden Society.
Believes "where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise." Seldom seen without Luella.

HIXENBAUGH, FRANK L., Captain Co. H, D. D. S. (3-4), Sergt-at-Arms (3), President (4), Class President (3), Boosters' Club (3-4), President (4), Senior Council, Mgr. Senior Play, Chairman Play Committee, Debating (4).
"Democracy!"

INKSTER, ROBERT, Sergt. Co. F, Manager Baseball Team, Captain of 2nd Team Football, Boosters' Club.
Somewhat shy in public, but there with the goods when it comes to football.

"I have an ambition to be tough and drink pop."

HODGIN, GLADYS CONNELL, "Cutey."
P. A. S. (1-2-3-4), President (4), College Club (1-2), Reporter (2).
"I love my noble teachers, And dogs, and others toys, But best of all my love is for, Those big athletic boys."

"Looks don't make the man."
JOHNSON, ERNEST.
He talks and talks and talks, and seldom says anything.

JOHNSON, HELEN DOROTHY, Elaine Society (3-4), Racquet Club (4).
Helen is a girl you have to know well, in order to thoroughly appreciate her. A future member of Ames.

"You can never show better than as your own natural self."

JOHNSON, LESLIE F., "Les."
Les is never seen without some kind of medal, but we are getting used to them now.

JONES, ETHEL.
The joy of Dr. Senter’s heart. She could rattle off formula’s at a rate which Bunsen himself could not surpass.

JONES, MILDRED, Priscilla Alden Society (4).
Mildred is quite wisely worldly, yet not at all worldly wise. Mildred is quite wisely worldly, yet not at all worldly wise.

Annette studied geology, oh! so diligently! Probably to learn all there was to know about Sandy things.

KISOR, EDNA.

"Thou whose locks outshine the sun,
Golden tresses wreathed in one."

KLINE, DAVE, "Kliney." 2nd Lieut. Co. I.

Spends half his time trying to see why a football won't stand on end.

KOPALD, HANNA B. "Ham." Senior Dramatics.

Hanna's favorite quotation is; "Mend your speech a little, lest it mar your fortunes."
"If my dear Hastings he but constant——"

"As monumental bronze, unchanged his look."

KULAKOFSKY, BARNEY, "Kuly." 1st Lieut. Co. I, D. D. S. (1-2-3-4), Secretary (4), Vice-President (4), Latin Society (2-4), President (4), Debating Team (3-4), Debating Editor Register, Senior Council, Latin Dramatics (2-4), Eligible Commencement Comp.

"Graced as thou art with all the power of words——"
The school orator.
LANDGRAF, KATHERINE, German Society (1-2-3), Shakespeare Soc. (4).

"There's not a bonnie flower that springs,
By fountain, shaw or green;
There's not a bonnie bird that sings,
But minds me o' Katherine."

LANGDON, HAROLD A., Captain Co. I, Boosters' Club (4), W. D. S. (3-4), Vice-Pres. (3), President (4), Editor of "Locals" (4), Debating Manager (4).

Harold is so English he always says "Hupp" rather than "up."

LARSEN, BERTHA M., "Jeff."

In small proportion we just beauties see,
And in short measures life may perfect be.

LAWSON, BLANCHE.

"Still waters run deep." Blanche is exceedingly quiet; so we conclude she must think a good deal.

Can do anything in the way of music. Plays piano so as to rival Palcowski; not to speak of the violin.

LEHNHOFF, MAURINE FRANCES,

"She doeth little kindnesses which most leave undone or despiseth."
"First then, Betty will, or won't depend on't.
And when she'll do't; she will, and there's an end on't."

LINE, CLADYS AGNES, "Glodies," Liminger Travel Club (1-2-3), Vice-President (3).
Secretary (4), Latin Society (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.
"Give a Line a line
And a Line a line will take,
Not a telephone line, nor a line of thought,
Merely a line in print."

"Very fond of dancing—especially the one step."

McALLISTER, DOROTHY, "Dot," Priscilla Alden Society (1-2-3-4), Srgt.-at-Arms (2), Secretary (4), German Soc. (1-2), Lam Ron (4).
"When she had passed, it seemed like the ceasing of exquisite music."

McAULEY, MILDRED, "Mid." Liminger
Give me a look, give me a face
That makes simplicity a grace.

The "biggest man in high school," "Nobody loves a big man" is not true in Lawrence's case.
Editor of the "Commerce" and quarterback on the team is certainly a queer combination, but Packey was equally good at both.

McNETT, EDITH, "D. S." Liminger Travel Club (1-2-3-4), Treasurer (4), Latin Soc.
"She that was ever fair and never proud, Had tongue at will, and yet was never loud."

Luke does not approve of the tango, the cactus or any modern dance. Therefore he originated a little dance all his own.

MAGNEY, ETHEL G., "Wee," Browning (1-2-3-4).
"The maid who modestly conceals her beauties, while she hides, reveals."

Can you, we ask in all seriousness, picture "Blondy" as a dignified, sedate school ma'am? Yet that is what she intends to be.

"The first thing we do, let's kill all the lawyers."
"Take care Frank."
MARSH, HARRY, "Pipe."
School won't seem the same after Harry leaves.
We had almost thought him a fixture.

MARSHALL, LILA D., "Bridget," Pleiades (2), Browning (4).
"What a strange thing is man?
And what a stranger is woman!

MARSHALL, ROBERT J., Captain and Regimental Quartermaster.
"My early books
Were woman's books,
And folly's all they've taught me."

When a man's in love, ye gods, beware!

MEDLAR, HENRIETTA, "Boots," Elaine (2-3-4).
Her name is Henrietta, but she calls herself Elta. It goes without saying why she left off the "Hen." A famous maker of stuffed animals.
"Has anyone in the party found a small white cat?"

MESKIMEN, ELSIE, "Cupid," Racquet Club (2), Hawthorne (2-3-4).
"O woman! in our hours of ease,
Uncertain, coy and hard to please."
All the same we fail to get the significance of "Cupid."
MILLER, CLADYS E., "Happy," Hawthorne Society (1-2-4).
"And she is fair and fairer than that word."—
And does she know it? What?

MILLS, JESSIE RUTH, "Rufus," Latin Society (4), Vice-President (4), Reporter (4), Dramatics (4), Hawthorne (1-4), Vice-President (4), Class Sergt-at-Arms (4), Hiking Club (4), Senior Council (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.
"Blue were her eyes as the fairy flax,
And her cheeks like the dawn of day."

MOORE, EARLE.
"Others may say what they choose—I speak from experience."

MOORE, LOIS MARIE, "Lil," M. F. S. (2-3-4), Racquet Club (2), Lam Ron (4), Eligible Commencement Comp.
"Some are born for "A's;"
Some achieve "A's;"
But Lois has "A's" thrust upon her;"
Cheer up—she may improve in time.

Caruso will soon have a rival. If you don’t believe it—listen to Bill some first hour.

"Few things are impossible to diligence and skill."
Proof: English marks.
MORRIS, BESSIE FRANCES. "Jim."
Takes life very seriously, even preparing her lessons in advanced Algebra every day.

Nettie's interests are divided between athletics and hair ribbons.

It's one thing to know a lot of Latin, but quite another to make your teacher know you know it—this Nathan can say from experience.

"But so fair,
She takes the breath of men away
Who gaze upon her unaware."

MC SHANE, LEO F., Major Second Battalion. D. D. S. (2-3-4), Class Basket Ball (2-4) Tennis Team (2-3), Tennis Mgr. (3), Latin Society (4), Booster's Club (3-4), Senior Council.
Leo doesn't let his personal interests interfere with the well-fare of the school.

NEFF, HAROLD C., Webster (2-3-4).
Harold's eyes are always turned toward the North(raps).
Sandy seems to be "Keiner" fond of blondes.
Oh, "gazzabuck!"

LARSEN, RICHARD.
Richard was as slow as ever, and just caught the last panel.
To be a Senior—to graduate, how short the time is in spite of many days of study and school troubles.

We entered—a curious unknowing throng gazing with deference upon the Seniors to become one of which was then our sole ambition.

By the end of our first two years, we had built a firm foundation and had begun to take interest in athletic and social events. As Juniors we had completely lost that extreme submissiveness "of yore" and had proved to be a factor in High School affairs. In athletics we in no way loitered—nor did we in debating. We were now organized and had chosen officers under whose guidance we progressed. President, Frank Hixenbaugh; Vice-President, Kathryn Crocker; Secretary, Lola Byrd; Treasurer, James Durkee; Sergt.-at-Arms, Doris Duncan and Carlisle Allan.

But here we are—Seniors—and what have we to say for ourselves? To begin with, we must remember how fortunate we were in having a large addition to our building. Wasn't it like old times to hunt rooms since they were all renumbered and lockers—yes, the boys did get them all on the first floor, but the girls can't complain of seclusion by being on the second floor.

The High School of Commerce took some of our most prominent members away but just think we are now Central High School. Hasn't our auditorium been a pleasure for literary meetings, debates and lecture? Weren't we fortunate in having such a spacious building? One difficulty though has been the arrangement of the lunch hour. Since there were so many of us, it was impossible for all to be accommodated at one time. So the two lunch periods were the result. We also regret we have not had the freedom of the halls in the morning since we no longer enjoy that delightful social hour at noon. We should be consoled, for if Seniors only were in question we undoubtedly could govern our conduct without authority but WE were Freshmen once.

The first step we took was to elect the following class officers to direct us through the year. President James Durkee, Vice-President Doris Duncan, Secretary Gertrude Dickinson, Treasurer Dwight Evans, Sergeants-at-Arms Ruth Mills and Rawson White.

As to athletics—our football team did wonderful work. Captain Baliman deserves credit for his manner in handling the team. Our basketball team was one of the best in the state (though we esteem them much more than this), and a more commendable record could not have been made. The efficient playing of the Captain Leslie Burkenroad, can never be expressed in words. In track work we did not gain as much prominence as in football and basketball but we are equally proud of our track team though minus some of the best members. The Captain John Drexel, deserves much credit. Along with the teams we must praise the managers, football, Foy Porter; basketball, Rawson White; track, John Hannighen. The debating team has made a record and is fast gaining fame, rivaling athletics for enthusiasm. The baseball team though recently organized has the interest of the school with it.

We have also enjoyed a most delightful social year which far exceeded all expectations. The Senior and C. O. C. Hop, the various dances given by the clubs and with individual entertaining have constituted a gay and never-to-be-forgotten year.

With the Senior Banquet and Commencement close at hand, we will soon have received our sheepskins and bowing our heads in reverence to the dear school and teachers on old Capitol Hill start out on life's journey with its various paths and byways. D. D., '13.
Did you see the play? Why of course you did, what a foolish question. You either took her, and sat down in front with Foy and Walt and Heimie, or you joined that more comfortable throng higher up, and in coatless bliss, sat on the benches with Les and Maurre and Harry. But we say without fear of question, that you enjoyed it wherever you sat. You all laughed equally at the antics of Tony and the discomfiture of Marlowe. Mr. and Mrs. Hardcastle were equally interesting to you all, and Miss Neville and Hastings were certainly the loving couple.

Neither the actors or the greater part of the audience will forget that night, when amidst the clapping of the spectators the curtain rose, showing "Les" and "Smiles" seated on the stage, engaged in one of their little family quarrels.

Then came Tony, and Oh, the noise that greeted his "cheery, red! Aye, it was a bold face." You did not know that this same happy Tony had refused until about two minutes before his entrance to wear that beautiful auburn wig. The cast knew, at their own expense, where Tony had acquired his mastery of his fox hunter's whip. And that cap, John avered, was worn by the original Tony. Finally Tony dragged his mother out of the room, and not being able, for some reason or other to see the door, he made his exit thru one of the supposedly solid walls, narrowly escaping the descending curtain.

And then the Tavern Scene, in the Three Pigeons. The Scene where Tony sang, where Mort and Lester Hansen beat the bottoms out of their beer mugs in their enthusiastic applause, and the obliging Stings filled the same mugs with more ginger ale, giving the stage the appearance of Dayton, on March thirtieth.

These long-haired members of the Stews and Student's Association, which fact was proved by their violent demonstrations, were finally removed from the inn and Marlowe and Hastings entered sweating under their heavy costumes and Hastings upbraiding his friend for his making them lose their way. The quarrel is cut short by the appearance of Tony who after a number of comical actions sends them to his father's house as to an inn.

All of the other scenes occur at the home of Mr. Hardcastle, and finally the play is happily concluded in the marriage of Hastings and Miss Neville, and Marlowe and Miss Hardcastle.

Certainly the play was a success, from all standpoints. Due to the most efficient coaching of "Tommy Mills" the play was pronounced the best ever given by any class. The cast was well chosen and Mr. Hardcastle, Tony, Mrs. Hardcastle and Miss Neville were pronounced by many to have unusual ability and it is rumored that one of the leads in the male parts has accepted a position as stage hand at the Boyd for the summer, hoping to soon enter the "profession." Miss Towne and Miss Mackin should also come in for a large share of the praise for the help rendered during the rehearsals. Miss Towne acted as call boy and she is contemplating spending her vacation in this capacity with Southern and Marlowe. The returns financially could not have been better, owing to the strenuous efforts of Frank Hixenbaugh, the manager, and Morton Rhoades, who had charge of the sale of tickets. Over two-hundred dollars were cleared and we may all congratulate Coaches, Actors and Managers and as the curtain falls on our high school life Hastings once more arises and "Wishes you joy with all his heart."

Juniors! With what reverence did we sound that name when first we made our advent in High School. How awe-struck were we when we passed in the halls those who preceded us in the wearisome mazes of Education, a few seemingly very long years, when as Freshmen we were directed and misdirected—hither and thither at the direction of the demigods above us. As Sophomores, having become more hardened to the trickeries of our tormentors and having to a certain extent entered in up the same role ourselves, we regarded with less awe the approach of the Junior. But still the feeling remained. However, now that we ourselves have completed our third year and are on the eve of future strife and victory in our last, we begin to view with disdain the idea of reverencing any others in the school but ourselves. With a justifiable “veni, vidi, vici” air, we let our actions speak for us. No better heralds of our virtues can be found. They work while we sleep.

We do this with a just pride, for we have succeeded at that, which very few other classes ever even attempted. The class of 1914 is unique in many respects. The very book in which this is printed is due to a very great extent to the efforts of the Junior class. The Business Manager of the Register, who controls absolutely all of the finances of the paper is a member of our class. This is really a Senior office and by electing one of our men to it, when only a Sophomore, we broke a long established precedent of the school. In having one of the class of 1914 on the Elective Staff we had a representation in the paper that no other class which has preceded us has ever had. It has truly been of great service to us. The present second year class attempted to repeat the trick but failed and for next year both Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager will be members of our class.
The Class of 1915

The Class of '15 entered Omaha High School very wide awake and we have continued to remain awake for two years. In our Sophomore year we started out with a rush which we have kept up through the whole year.

At the first meeting of the Literary Societies a number of our classmates were elected to offices and held them the first semester at the close of which more were elected. We are well represented in all the literary societies and also in the Boosters' Club.

When the call for football candidates was made a large number of our men responded and we were well represented in both the first and second teams. In basketball we shone. We had a number of good players on the school team and came out first in the class basketball contests. The tennis champion is one of our classmates. We have also a large number of good tennis players. At the end of the first semester many Sophomore's names were to be found in the honor roll of those who got three or more A's.

From the Regiment as a point of view we look very promising. We have a large number of good corporals who will make fine sergeants next year and better commissioned officers in 1916.

In debating we were represented by one man who was on two of the former teams.

In politics we made a fine fight. We had four men in the field, three for Assistant Business Manager and one for Business Manager. We were defeated by only a small margin of repeating the trick of the Class of '14, by electing a Sophomore for Business Manager. We also were the first class to have a Sophomore holding the office of Assistant Business Manager.

In track we were not so lucky, but then one cannot be perfect. We made only third place in the meet but we had several men on the school team.

So on the whole we have proved ourselves a fine class; ready to buck anything and to support Omaha High with our life, be it ever so dear.

So here is a toast to ourselves, the Class of 1915, the best looking class in school, may we continue to grow and prosper for the rest of our stay in the High School in proportion to our prosperity in our first two years.

J. Porter Allan, '15.
The Class of 1916

What can we say about ourselves, mere Freshmen, when our writeup must be placed on the page next to the wise Sophomores and in close proximity to the dignified Seniors? How can our few honors compare with those of the higher classmen? But now putting all jokes aside—we are here—you know it—the school knows it—we know it and it has helped us most miraculously.

When we first entered the school the most verdant member of our class was as well acquainted with the school as was the most haughty Senior. In fact we were better acquainted with the plan of the building than were many of our haughty friends. We did not rush frantically around the hall looking in vain for Room 200. We did not suffer the torture of that antequated joke on the elevator—for we found the first day that the school was the possessor of such a machine, a fact that few Seniors discovered before their second or third week.

But now we wish to declare in all seriousness and with all due respect for the well-meant sallies of our interested friends, that we are the best class that has ever entered this school. We have led in all forms of scholaristic activities.

For instance, in track work, Wilbur Fullaway did some marvelous work. But he wasn’t our only representative of fame by any means. Eugene Neville is a member of our class, and he was one of the three who were awarded track O’s, which is indeed a great honor, not only to himself, but to his entire class. We are justly proud of these representatives, as they do represent our class in a most pleasing manner. In scholarship work, we have very few persistent “flunkers,” and had a fine representation in the honor roll of “A” pupils.

Lack of space prevents us from expounding on our other virtues, and we can only close with the desire to keep up our class as it has begun, and make it the best which has ever graduated from Omaha High, in 1916.

From an examination of some statements made by the graduates of the Class of 1913 it is evident that a large majority of the pupils consider Constructive English one of the studies which has benefitted them most in their preparation for their work. Constructive English is a requisite which must be taken half of each of the four years. In the Freshman year, description is studied; in the Sophomore, narration; in the Junior, exposition; and in the Senior, argumentation. These names themselves give a very fair idea of what is accomplished, or attempted in the courses. The English course is the most complete of any offered at the High School. Several pages might be devoted to the benefits derived from any one phase of the work. The pupil is taught to study an object comprehensively and write a description which is beautiful and artistic, and at the same time, emphatic, unified and coherent. He acquires the powers of concentrated studying and clear thinking. He learns the rare arts of telling a story and writing a letter. He is enabled to reason clearly and to set forth his beliefs in a convincing manner. All this is without mention of the value of the wide-ranging subject matter covered. In short the pupil comes, from few vague ideas of grade school grammar to a working knowledge of English Composition, to the ability to appreciate the English masters and to express himself in a happy way in whatever walk of life he may find himself.

In the department of English Literature, great literary men, their aims, ambitions and masterpieces are studied. The student is usually glad to leave the beneficial, but rather mechanical work of the constructive department to learn of our great works of literature.

From the works of the great masters, such as Tennyson, Shakespeare, and Milton, the student learns to appreciate good literature, and not only that, but what is far more important, he learns to understand human nature, to be less critical of those who seem to be unable to stand unflinchingly in the face of temptation, and to appreciate the value of the ideal in daily life. He learns that the world is not wholly bad nor altogether good, and to believe that the power of good is steadily increasing. He also becomes more broad minded, because of intimate acquaintanceship with those great men who have not had ideals, merely for themselves, but who have passed them on to us in their glorious bequests in literature, that we may know, and appreciate the value of the good, the beautiful and the true.
Department of History

A thorough knowledge of the history of his country is essential to the efficient citizen. To train us to be such is the purpose of the history department of the high school, and the courses in Greek, Roman, Mediaeval, Modern and English History, while of great importance in themselves, furnish an appropriate setting for American history. American history gives more than an adequate return for the time spent by the student upon it, in developing to a high degree, his sense of patriotism. He comes to recognize the greatness of Abraham Lincoln, not only as an American statesman, but as a man whose high personal ideals have won for him a place in world history. The careful study of the constitution of the United States convinces one of the responsibilities of good citizenship; while the study of civics informs him as to how these responsibilities may be creditably carried. And the study of American history does more than this—it also acquaints one with the best of our historical literature, and furnishes training in determining the value of evidence.

Department of Art

The aim of art education is to present the study of art in the light of certain governing principles, which can be developed so as to equip the student at the end of his four years course, not only with a knowledge of material things, but with such a knowledge of art principles as will give him a better appreciation of the good work of all ages and a fuller understanding of art.

We feel we have just completed the most successful year the department has ever known. This is partly due to the fact that we are established in our new room, which gives us better facilities for work.

We have enjoyed the practical side of free hand lettering, book binding, tooled leather and wood block printing and take a pride in the results of our work in representation. We are not always satisfied and sometimes feel disappointed in our results, but we let our mistakes teach us something, bear in mind that it is the mind that creates, that the hand is merely the servant, review the principles involved and do better the next time.

As a result we have a better appreciation of the work of others and more joy in our own.

If the true aim of education is to enable one to be useful and happy, the study of Latin furnishes a most excellent educational instrument.

One of the requisites to usefulness in any line of work is power of concentration. One who has studied Latin does not need to be reminded that no other subject develops this to the same degree. The fact that some pupils find Latin difficult is a proof that they need all the more to develop this power. Phillips Brooks’ advice was, “Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers; pray for powers equal to your tasks.”

Another requisite to success is the ability to write and speak lucidly and effectively. So for a successful use of English, a knowledge of the classics is necessary since sixty per cent of our English words are derived from Latin.

One who contemplates becoming a druggist, physician or lawyer will be greatly assisted in acquiring the vocabulary of his profession by studying Latin.

Besides acquiring mental training by the translation of Caesar, Cicero and Virgil, we cultivate a taste for good literature and are inspired by higher ideals.

PEARLE BLAIR, ’13.

Department of Modern Languages

Germany is no longer a colored patch on the map to a student of German, but a land of picturesque gray castles and red-tiled houses. This feeling we have gained not only through class reading but also through the interesting exhibits, which we have had this year. Tiny cardboard models of the German castles gave us an idea of older Germany, while numerous postcards have shown us what modern and up-to-date cities it has.

A year’s study gives us a slight speaking knowledge and the satisfaction of knowing that we may sometime be able to use this language when traveling abroad. And here at home our knowledge of German will often be called into use for we have a large portion of Germans in our population.

German gives a mental training equal to that of Greek and Latin, while the student has the advantage of putting it to a practical and interesting use.

In the study of this language, we learn also a little of the beautiful old German myths, which helps us to appreciate the German character and history, and will be of invaluable use when we attend the operas for which Germany is so famous.

So, all in all there are many great and lasting advantages in the study of the German language.

REGIMENT
THE REGIMENT TO CAPTAIN STRITZINGER

Every cadet, especially those Commissioned Officers, with whom he was better acquainted, will agree that the success of the Regiment during the past year has been due to a very great extent to the earnest and faithful service of our Commandant, Captain Stritzinger, Quarter-Master's Department, United States Army. Not only during the comparatively short time he was with us at school, but during his command over us at camp, has he gained the universal respect and admiration of the entire Regiment, both from his efficiency as an officer and his gentlemanly actions. The innovations he introduced into our camp life were a pleasure to all and we feel sure every member of the Cadet Corps will join in as they have so many times before with:

“What’s the matter with the Comm?”
“He’s all right, you bet, every time,
“Who’s all right?”
“THE COMM. He is; He is; He is, all right.”

CAMP McHUGH — MISSOURI VALLEY, 1913.

On June ninth, when the cold, bleak requiem of winter had changed to a spring lullaby; when "every clod felt the stir of life," and that traditional spring fever held every being closely lettered, the regiment assembled on Dodge street for the annual camp.

At exactly seven-thirty the Assembly was blown and amid the farewells of the mothers and friends, the march was started to the station. With all the accountrements forgotten in the packing of the previous Saturday, the mandolins of the officers carried by file closers, and the quartermaster grinning wickedly from their comfortable wagons, we proceeded down Farnam street, rivalling in appearance a parade of the Salvation Army. Across the viaduct this awe-inspiring procession passed and in a few minutes, "Casey Jones," muttering a prayer, hung a horse shoe over the steam gauge, opened the throttle and the journey began.

Arriving at the camping grounds these peace-destroyers erected the tents with amateurish accuracy, ate the welcome lunch brought from home, and then "loafed" all the afternoon. As the last notes of taps died away, each one sank into his peaceful, but Ostermooless sleep, save those who, confirming as they walked, Sherman’s definition of war, restlessly paced their guard.

To the bellowing blast of “Reville,” the cold gray dawn of the morning after appeared. And with it the haggard worshippers of Mars, in whom their faith was already weakening, struggled from their tents, listlessly went through the "right, left, right, left" calesthenics, ate the poreless beans, drank the coffee, plentifully adulterated with "aqua impura," and prepared themselves for an invigorating hike over the fair grounds. Into their lungs they breathed the pure air, made blue by the bubbling over of their eferescent spirits; and carrying on their shoulders a twelve-pound rifle, beautifully finished in oak they marched away. These joyful spirits performed this pleasant task for but one short hour, of about one hundred and twenty minutes, and returned to camp just in time to prepare for inspection and battalion drill. Out on the field once more come those blithe youths, at double time, for the major recalls how he eulogized the commanding officer who did this when he was a private. For another hour this exercise continues and just while everyone is waiting for Recall, the Assembly for Troop Parade is given and the blue of the sky mingles with the air in the reproach that follows. This drill continues till the Comm. stops it, so that it is usually short, and then the stampede for Mess takes place. After which all rested except those who carried water, pealed spuds, washed dishes, cleaned up the camp, ran errands for the officers, and accomplished other odd but pleasurable tasks.

Let us pass over the succeeding events, those known to all who attended. Finally the last day of camp, the curtain fell on the grand panorama. Camp was broken, and the same band, who a few days before were so active, and high-spirited, but who now felt that their last spark of vitality was about to die and beat it back over the same trail. Their haggard, sunburned faces showed the effects of a week's strenuous outing; their uniforms no longer held their marked creases. But every man was happier because he came, for he had been given a vague idea of real war and was thereby better enabled to enjoy real peace.

"ROUGH-HOUSE NIGHT"

It has been ordained since the beginning of time, or at least since the Regiment held its first encampment, that the last night of camp shall be, whether permissible or not, one grand rough-house. Previous to this year however it has always been the policy of former commandants to restrict the fun to only the limits of the regular camp night. However, this year, Captain Stritzinger, declared that Camp would be closed all night Friday, and that the cadets might do exactly as they pleased that night. They did.

The first event of the evening was a baseball game between the Omaha High and Missouri Valley town team in which after a hot battle Missouri Valley was defeated by a score of 6 to 4. The cadets then went back to camp and the rough-house began. It started with the attempt of a number of cadets to dump one of the officer's tents. Now this officer happened to be a member of a select circle of ten who were known to the camp since their organization on the night of the water fight as the "GAZAZABUKES." When the aforesaid officer saw his tent swaying he called loudly for his fellow Gazazbukes, who came running from all parts of the camp. The attack was repulsed, the Gazazbukes began to take in members faster than the E-man-non, and their adversaries formed an organization of their own which they graced with the appellation of "The Hellers." Now commenced a battle royal between the two factions. Harry Mooney, because of his tyrannic rule over the bugle corps was given a ducking, and for expressing his views on the baseball team Captain Ward Smith suffered a similar fate at the hands of the team who organized a chique of their own, known as the "Dirty Dozen." Shortly after this the "Golshuners" were organized among the members of the Third Battalion. All these different gangs now commenced their attack on the tent of Captain Jobst, a leader of the Gazazbukes, but after an hour of fighting they were repulsed, and as their victorious song rang out on the air, the Regiment marched on the parade ground, where they formed a circle about a large bonfire and watched a display of fireworks till about twelve o'clock. Here the Gazazbukes sang their songs and gave their drills while the other gangs looked on unable to stop them. The whole corps returned to camp and carried on their feudal strife till the needless Reville at four-thirty Saturday.

STATE CHAMPIONS, 1912
Review of the Football Season

The football team made the enviable record of seven victories and one defeat and also established the record of being one of the greatest fighting aggregations the school ever gathered together. A great deal of credit is due Coach Mills for the quality of the game put up by the team and the clean manner in which they played it.

Omaha, 12; Creighton High, 4.

As this was the opening game it was played raggedly, but it showed up the weaknesses of the team. Carlson and Golden were both out of the game on account of injuries which was largely the cause of the weak condition of the team. Creighton’s scores came as a result of two safeties registered against the Omaha team when Drummond passed the ball over Gardener’s head.

Omaha, 23; Norfolk, 0.

The Omaha team showed wonderful improvement over the game with Creighton the preceding Saturday and beat Norfolk by the score of 23 to 0. McFarland at quarter ran the team like a veteran and Gardener showed up well in his punting.

Omaha, 0; West Des Moines, 23.

The football team suffered the only defeat of the year at the hands of the West Des Moines team. The Omaha team was in a very weak condition and seven men were either out of the game or crippled. The Des Moines team was a bunch of veterans and their team work baffled the Omaha team.

Omaha, 22; York, 13.

On the first trip of the season the team went to York and triumphed over that High School by the score of 22 to 13. The team showed a great improvement over the Des Moines game and carried the ball through the York line at will. In this game the forward pass was used to great advantage, often for long gains.

Omaha, 27; Lincoln, 19.

For the first time in eight years the High School team beat Lincoln on their own grounds. In the first quarter the game looked bad for Omaha but Omaha came back in their usual way during the second quarter and the ball ended with the score 14 to 12 in favor of Omaha. After that the result of the game was never in doubt and the game ended with the score 27 to 19 in favor of Omaha.

Omaha, 20; Beatrice, 13.

The Beatrice team put up a great game and held the Omaha team in check the greater part of the game, but the terrific rushes of the home team finally triumphed. When there was only about ten minutes left to play Beatrice led with the score 13 to 0, but at this point Golden was put in at full back and three touch downs were made by Omaha before the game ended.

Omaha, 12; Sioux City, 7.

On the last trip of the season the team went to Sioux City and trimmed the team there by the score of 12 to 7. The game was hard fought and the Sioux City team was in the lead until the last few seconds of play when the Omaha team made the winning touch down. After playing a star game Berry broke his arm and was out of the game for the rest of the season. Platz and Gardener were also stars.

Omaha, 3; South Omaha, 0.

Mainly because of over-confidence Omaha barely defeated the South Omaha team. The only score of the game was made when Gardener made a drop kick. Platz did practically all the carrying of the ball and Gardener with his excellent booting kept Omaha from suffering defeat.
Omaha, 23; Lane Technical, 0.

In the last game of the season the Omaha team showed the results of their good coaching and with wonderful team work defeated the fast Lane Technical High School team from Chicago. Platz gained a reputation for the head work he used and the way he advanced the ball through the opponents line. Gardener also showed wonderful improvement in his drop kicking, making three wonderful drop kicks.

LETTERS AWARDED

Os Awarded—Captain Baliman, Gardiner, Rouse, Hughes, Inkster, Moser, Smith, Nelson, Drummond, Golden, Platz, Sprague, Gould, McFarlane.

ORs Awarded—Berry, Reese, Klein.

THE CHAMPIONS

Dick Baliman, Captain and Center. Dick was shifted to center from guard at the beginning of the season and played a star game in that position. He certainly made an excellent captain and always fought hard. He played through every game and helped Mills give another bunch of state champs.

Jim Gardner, Captain-elect and Right Half. What more need we say. Jim deserved the captaincy for his steady work and we predict a Missouri Valley aggregation next fall.

Frank Golden, Left Tackle. Whenever McFarlane headed the grandstand and "gave it to Golden" Omaha was sure to get out of her tight fix. Frank made the Missouri Valley, helped a great deal by his wonderful work against Beatrice.

"Packy" McFarlane, Quarterback. John improved wonderfully toward the end of the season and handled the team well at all times. He was an expert on the forward pass and on trick plays. Played well against Lincoln.

"Dutch" Platz, Left Half. "Dutch" was always a steady ground-gainer. Fine work against Sioux City. He will be back next year. Watch him.

Harvey Nelson, Left Guard. Harvey was always a consistent player. He would get down and say, "Come on through me." Sometimes they tried to—once.

Mark Hughes, Left End. When Mark wasn't making long runs he was stirring up the team and encouraging when they were about tired out.

Jack Sprague, Full Back. Jack was at his best in the Lincoln game. A hard tackler and always a good fighter.

Ellsworth Moser, Right Guard. "Mose" has two more years to make the team. Won't Des Moines have an awful time stopping him next year. A tower of strength on the line where no one got through.

Art Smith, Right Tackle. "Watch Smith hit that line." Lived up to his motto that no one got through him.

Halleck Rouse, Right End. Halleck played a fine game against Des Moines. Somehow or other they rarely made end runs near Halleck.

"Ole," Carlson, Tackle. It's funny how other backs failed to go through's "Ole." We've discovered a secret—he wouldn't let them. Another gain whenever he got the ball.

"Bob" Inkster, End. "Bob" was great in the South Omaha and in the Des Moines games. Did practically all the work against the Packers.

Joe Drummond, Sub. Guard. Joe started the season bad at center, but made an excellent man on the line before the season was over. Played well against Lane Tech.

"Bud" Gould, End. "Bud" was one of the fastest ends we ever had, but was unluckily kept out of the game a great part of the season.

Mahms Berry, Sub. Full Back. Mahms had a hard time with his studies and injuries, but he played well when he got a chance.

Leo Klein, Sub. Full Back. Leo always played a hard, steady game and will be a valuable addition to next year's team.

Review of the Basketball Season

Basketball this year has been a most decided success. With the opening of the season the prospects were very bright and it did not take long for Coach Mills to whip the squad into a fine team. He was ably assisted in this work by Leslie Burkenroad, captain of the team. The Tri-City championship was easily won, without the loss of a single game. The State Championship was lost through hard luck and Omaha was declared by all to be the best team in the tournament. The Missouri Valley Championship was conceded to Omaha from her fine work throughout the season.

The team has certainly made a record of which we may all be proud. We congratulate the team, we congratulate the coach and we congratulate the school on having such a team. A record of twenty-one victories and but one game lost is one of which any school may be well proud. May the good work continue next year.

AWARD OF LETTERS

Letters were awarded to the following men, "O's", Burkenroad, Gardiner, Platz, Nelson, Bauman, Hughes. "O R's", Craig, Smith, Larmon, Flothow.

THE TRI-CITY LEAGUE

The results of the Tri-City league games were certainly very gratifying. The team completed its schedule in this league without the loss of a single game. The team was far superior to any of those entered and were all out of our class, although composed of the best material in Omaha and Council Bluffs Y. M. C. A.'s, and in three colleges, Bellevue, Omaha University and Creighton.

THE REGULAR SCHEDULE

Omaha, 20; Lincoln, 12.

As in football Omaha once more triumphed over her old rivals at the Capital City of January 18. The game in the first half was fast and the guarding so close that the first half ended with the score of 5 to 3. In the second half Omaha came back strong and the game from the opening of this half was all Omaha. Captain Burkenroad was the star of the game, shooting baskets from any place on the floor.

Omaha, 40; York, 15.

In a game featured by remarkable basket shooting and accurate passing, the Omaha team won handily over the York team by the score of 40 to 15. Burkenroad seemed to be able to throw baskets from any place on the floor and put up one of the best games ever witnessed in Omaha. The guarding of Gardiner was largely the cause of the small score made by York.

Omaha, 24; Sioux City, 18.

In one of the fastest games ever witnessed on a local floor Omaha won over Sioux City by the score of 24 to 18. This is the first time in seven years that Omaha has defeated Sioux City. Sioux City had a team of remarkable goal throwers, but on account of the wonderful work of Platz and Gardiner they did not get many chances. Burkenroad was guarded closely, but Hughes came to the front and played a spectacular game.

Omaha, 18; South Omaha, 15.

Omaha won a hard fought game from South Omaha by a score of 18 to 15. South Omaha had a great advantage in that the game was played on South Omaha's floor, which is smaller than the regulation floor. Burkenroad played the star game for Omaha. Menefee made most of South Omaha's points, making 11 out of their 15.

Omaha, 40; Lincoln, 16.

On February fifteen Omaha easily defeated Lincoln for the second time of the year, by the score of 40 to 16. Omaha out played her opponents in every way. Burkenroad starred for Omaha, while Allen played best for Lincoln.

Omaha, 25; Sioux City, 24.

Omaha defeated Sioux City again on their own floor, February 22d. The game was a fast one throughout, extra time having to be played twice. Burkenroad and Gardiner starred.

Omaha, 34; St. Joseph, 25.

In the game which St. Joseph claimed was for the championship of the Missouri valley, Omaha handily triumphed over the down-river men. At no time was Omaha in danger. Hughes threw most of the goals.

MISSOURI VALLEY CHAMPIONS

"Les" Burkenroad, Captain and Right Forward. "Les" was easily conceded a place on the Valley five. His ability to throw baskets has made him known all over the state. Always handled the team well and made a fine captain.

Mark Hughes, Captain-elect and Left Forward. Mark will make as good a captain as he is a forward. He deserved the captancy as was shown by his stellar work throughout the season.

Harvey Nelson, Center. We never saw any center out-jump Harvey. He always used his head and played hard from start to finish.

Jim Gardiner, Right Guard. Jim was as good in basket-ball as in football, and this is saying a good deal. Never known to stuff in a game.

"Ed" Bauman, Left Guard. Ed will be back next year. He always played a steady game and starred in the Tournament.

"Dutch" Platz, Right Guard. Here is "Dutch" again, as fast as in football. Would never take any roughing. Back next year.

"Ken" Craig, Sub. Ken did not play in enough games to win his "O" but received an "OR." His playing at all times was good however.

Paul Flotthow and Russell Lamon were awarded "OR's." They'll both be back. Watch them.
THE TRACK TEAM
Track and Tennis Review

The past track season has been one of those known among the patrons of school athletics as an “off year.” These unfortunate years are bound to occur in almost any school following a long succession of victories in any line of sport. The athletes all graduate or leave school and the team is left with but little material. Thus it has been with track. All the stars of the past three years, such men as Rector, Wood and Millard who have always been steady point winners have left and their places have been left empty.

Mr. Mills, assisted by Mr. Carns and “Bob” Wood have whipped an excellent team into shape considering the material at hand, and prospects for 1914 seem very bright. The men have kept up training although the season is over and they are developing wonderfully. The team participated in but one inter-scholastic meet, that being the state contest at Lincoln, the annual April meeting being postponed on account of the tornado.

THE STATE MEET

For the first time since 1908, Omaha lost the Annual State Meet at Lincoln, May 17. Our weakness was due, sad to relate, largely to the failure of Karl Engstrom, who starred in the Class Meet.

The meet was won by Kearney Military Academy, Kearney High was second, and Pawnee City High third. Omaha finished fifth with a total of 14 points. Rouner won the most points for Omaha, winning first in the high jump, and third in the shot put. Neville showed up in excellent form in the 220 hurdles. Reavis of Falls City, established a new record for the pole vault, and Brown of Pawnee City, lowered the mark for the mile. Omaha obtained third in the relay.

Although our successes in track have not been so great during the present year as in other forms of athletic activity, the outlook for next year seems encouraging. Such men as Neville, Rouner, Douglas, Flint and Fullaway may be counted on as the making of a winning team in 1914. Rouner, the most deserving of this year’s squad, will probably be chosen captain, and with as efficient training as that of this season, there is no doubt but what Omaha will attain once more her temporarily lost prestige in this activity.

THE CLASS MEET

The Annual Inter-Class meet was held on May 12, at Creighton Field, and was easily won by the Seniors. This is quite a record for the Class of ’13, making the fourth successive victory for this class. Les Burkenroad and Karl Engstrom tied for individual honors, with 11 1/2 points each. The meet was slow and no records were neared, though many of the events were very close.

LETTERS AWARDED

Track “O’s” were awarded to Rouner, Gordon and Neville.

TENNIS

Tennis has been made quite an important sport among both the boys and girls since the installation of the four courts on the west side of the building last September. Two tournaments have been ably managed by Sands Woodbridge, manager of the team. No Inter-Scholastic matches were played but many of the tournament matches were played in championship style. At the present writing, owing to the fact that the spring tournament has not been finished, no “O’s” have been awarded but Joe Adams, city tennis champion; Russell Larm on, and Herbert Davis will probably receive their letters.
SPRINTING for the FINISH.

HUGHES WINS the HURDLES.

THE FINISH of the 100.
THE BASEBALL TEAM
Omaha produced another champion team in baseball. Although the present year has been the first for quite a number of years in which any particular interest has been manifested in this sport, the first call for candidates brought out a great many able players. Roy Platz, who has played with several first-class amateur teams in the city, was chosen captain and Bob Inkster, manager. Platz's work at third base was excellent throughout the season, and he ran the team with rare ability.

During their schedule, the team met many teams of reputation, defeating Guthrie Center, the champions of Iowa, by a large score.

Many of this year's men will return next year and with a team of veterans, Omaha will bring home another Missouri Valley cup.

Omaha, 15; School for the Deaf, 1.

In the first game of the season, Omaha handily defeated the team from the Deaf Institute, by the above overwhelming score. McFarlane pitched a star game.

Omaha, 7; Council Bluffs, 2.

Omaha walked away from the team across the river by the score of 7 to 2. Omaha knocked two pitchers out of the box and batted around nearly twice in the first inning. Batters: McFarlane and Jelen.

Omaha, 4; Tekamah, 7.

The less said of this game the better. Even Tekamah rooters admitted Omaha was robbed.

Omaha, 4; Blair, 3.

In the best game of the season, Omaha defeated Blair in a tenth inning rally. McFarlane and Platz played a star game.

Omaha, 3; Lincoln, 5.

In a raggedly played game Omaha met their only defeat at the hands of the Capitol City team. Both teams played badly and the Omaha team was not in its regular form.

Omaha, 3; Guthrie Center, 1.

Omaha defeated Guthrie Center, the Champions of Iowa, in the second ten-inning game of the season. The team was treated better in Guthrie Center than in any of the other towns where they played.

Omaha, 13; South Omaha, 1.

For the last time of the year Omaha once more triumphed over the Packers. The game was all Omaha's from the start.

Omaha, 15; Benson, 1.

The Benson team was taken into camp during Exam week. The work was ragged on both teams and at no time was Omaha in danger.

Omaha, 7; Avoca, 2.

The team journeyed to this Iowa city on June seventh and defeated the team there by the above score. McFarlane and Jelen, batteries.

LETTERS AWARDED

PHYSICAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT

Physical Training or "Gymnasium Work" is offered to all girls in the High School. It is a Drill, gaining one point a year, and may be elected for one, two, three or four years.

The object of the Course is three-fold: First, to make our bodies straight and strong, to teach correct standing, sitting, walking and stair-climbing, and to overcome high shoulders and hips caused by bad habits of standing and carrying books.

The second object is to develop poise and grace, and to teach us how to manage our bodies to make them the perfect tools with which we shall carry on our work in the world.

The third object is just recreation or "fun." This is what we are having when you hear those piercing shrieks floating down the ventilating shaft on Friday when you are trying to study in Room 215! In this connection also, any girl in the "Gym" may join a Basketball, Indoor Baseball, or Volleyball team, and Advanced Girls may join the "Gym Club," which is organized for Exhibition Work.

We think that we have one of the best Departments in the School, and hope that all the girls next year will either join us, or at least come to visit us and see what we are doing.

MILDRED P. BARBER.
THE SENIOR GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM
The interest in Girls' Athletics has risen considerably since last year, while even last year the work carried on in the gymnasium classes had attracted a great deal of attention. In the regular gymnasium course new departments have been instituted, and the old ones have been improved and perfected until any athletic girl takes pride in exhibiting the large gymnasium with its many different kinds of apparatus, to any visitor, and in telling of the numerous advantages derived from physical training.

First in the regular class work, the girls are taught the value of correct breathing, the advantage of an erect bearing and the harmful results of any tendency toward giving up all forms of exercise. Then the girls are given military drill, apparatus work, broad and high jumping, rope climbing, etc. Freshmen girls play games too, and look forward with eager anticipation to the weekly privilege when they may stop regular work and have a glorious time playing games. The more advanced girls take pleasure in learning folk dances, the Swedish typified by the Scotland quadrille, the Irish by the Irish lift, the Russian by the La Tzgane. But good, earnest work in the gymnasium is not rewarded only by physical benefits, for those who have secured "A" in physical training and not lower than "B" in other studies may join the "gym club," of which Erdice Baumgardner is president.

Besides regular class work, there are organized teams of basketball, volleyball and baseball. In basketball teams were chosen to represent the Sophomores, the Juniors and the Seniors. The Sophomore team, of which Ruth Gross is captain, was defeated by the Seniors who had selected Ethel Pepper as their captain. But the invincible determination of the Juniors won the day for them and they not only defeated the Sophomores, but were able to defeat the strong Senior team. The Juniors had chosen Bernice Nelson as their captain.

The volleyball teams were picked teams. Nettie Muir was captain of one and Marion Anderson of the other. The teams proved to be remarkably well matched as yet neither team securing the championship.

In indoor baseball, the Freshmen had a fine team. Although the advanced girls showed a superiority in skillful playing, the games during the season were exceptionally close. At the match game between the Freshmen and Advanced Girls the Freshmen were badly beaten. The score of the match game was 12 to 2 in favor of the Advanced Girls. The game although almost a shut-out was very exciting from the first bat to the last out. The Freshman team promises to be a winning team in future matches.

Then to promote interest in tennis, a Racquet Club has been organized of which Catherine Culver is president. Membership in this club is not difficult to obtain, as any one who plays tennis, or desires to learn to play may join, whether or not she is a member of the physical training classes.

At the present time tennis holds the interest of the girls and active participation in the other athletic diversions has not been so pronounced. In tennis the singles are to be played between Alice Porterfield and Catherine Culver and the winner of this match will play Charlotte Bedwell for school championship. The doubles are to be played between Miss Dumont with Nettie Muir, and Berenice Nelson with Catherine Culver. The girls may use the school courts on Mondays and Thursdays, which prevents the former necessity of using either private courts or the gymnasium.

And then too the Hiking Club deserves mention. The members followed their numerous tramps to the woods by a picnic. Friends were invited and after a hay-rack ride out West Center Road, a grand spread was held and the girls all voted that "the eats were the best ever" and each one declared she had had a grand time.

For all these advantages and good times Miss Dumont deserves a great deal of credit. She with her able assistant, Miss Herbert, has done a great deal in arousing interest in Girls Athletics, and in promoting the numerous interests outside of regular gymnasium work for those girls who have a love for athletics.
DEBATING
Taking all conditions into consideration, the debating season this year has been a very successful one. It is true, we have not won all of our debates. But considering the fact that all of last year’s debaters but one, graduated and that the teams this year were composed almost wholly of inexperienced men, we are certainly in a position to pat ourselves on the back. Under the efficient coaching of Professor E. R. Burke, one of the best all-round fellows that Harvard has ever graduated, our boys have developed so wonderfully that they have won the commendation of all who have heard them. Their style of extemporaneous speaking which Burke introduced and insisted upon has been in strong contrast to the set speeches of their opponents. The ability of our boys was made evident in the debate against West Des Moines, when they so clearly outclassed their opponents in argumentation and in knowledge of the question that a victory was assured. The Des Moines team endeavored to show that the commission form of government was needed, that it was sound in principle, and had worked successfully. Our boys succeeded in overthrowing all of these points.

In Sioux City much the same line of attack was used. This debate, according to the Sioux City faculty, was a wonderful exhibition of a High School debate. The Sioux City boys were orators and had the best of us in argumentation and in delivery. Our boys talking extemporaneously, had the best in rebuttal and fought for every point. The oratory of our opponents defeated us. Our debates against South Omaha and Lincoln, though not victories, brought honor to our school. The boys put up a hard fight and the debates were decidedly close. The boys were a credit to the O. H. S.

\[ \text{THE SOUTH OMAHA TEAM} \]
In conclusion we must take off our hats to Professor Edward Burke. It was Burke who developed nine good debaters out of inexperienced men. It was Burke who got the work out of the fellows. It was Burke who gave the boys their ability to speak and it is Burke whom the boys worship today. Ask any of the fellows what they think of Edward R. Burke, Attorney.
The Omaha High School Debating Squad

BARNEY KULAKOFSKY, Des Moines team; Captain Sioux City team. Age, 17; Length of tongue, 7 inches; 99 per cent hot air; Attitude on platform, pugnistic; Favorite expression, "A mere assertion counts for nothing in a debate."

Barney was one of the best debaters and most effective speakers that the O. H. S. has ever had. He won four out of his five debates by unanimous decisions, a record which to our knowledge, has never before been made in our school. He is going to be a doctor and will have to speak in whispers in the sick room. What a contrast!

HAROLD LANDERGOUL, Captain Lincoln team. Age, 17; Length of tongue, 6 inches; 33 1-3 per cent hot air; Attitude on platform, "Johnny on the spot;" Favorite expression, "They offer picture of a baby as authority."

Harold was one of the clearest talkers and best debaters on the squad. He astounded everyone, even the faculty, by the amount of work he put on his debate. According to reports, his work against Lincoln was wonderful but somehow or other, he always side-stepped the subject when broached in the lunch-room.

PERCY DALZELL, Des Moines team; Sioux City team. Age, 17; Length of tongue, like a woman's (nuff said); 21-2 per cent hot air; Attitude on platform, patriotic; Favorite expression, "O my friends, the stars and stripes, etc."

Percy is the rival of William Jennings Bryan and was the find of the year. He was the hardest working member of the squad and knew the conditions in every city in the U. S., including even Omaha. He always ended his speeches with a grand finale demanding that the stars and stripes be preserved.

HAROLD TORELL, Lincoln team. Age, 16; length of tongue, (we dare not state); 50 per cent hot air; Attitude on platform, scholarly; Favorite expression, "But let us admit it for the sake of argument."

Harold certainly has ability as a debater. That he used his ability to the best advantage was made evident to all who heard him. When the occasion demanded, he could quote statements from President Lowell that even that worthy, had never heard. (We mustn't tell secrets, however.)

FRANK HIXENBAUGH, South Omaha team. Age, 18; Length of tongue, 6 feet; 0 per cent hot air; Attitude on platform, cannibalistic; Favorite expression, "Hinky Dink, Bath-house John."

Frank was there and ever in his debate against South Omaha. His constructive argument was most effective and his rebuttal startled everyone. Hixenbaugh rivaled James Bryce, when it came to denouncing Hinky Dink and Bath-house John of Chicago.

EARL KETCHAM, Des Moines team; Sioux City team. Age, 17; length of tongue, (chopped off by tornado); 101 per cent hot air; attitude on platform, dramatic; favorite expression, "My colleagues," (decided accent on last syllable.)

Earl bucked the Easter tornado successfully and consequently was experienced when he met the Sioux City team. As usual, Earl put up a wonderful debate that night. He is a fiery talker and a very effective rebuttal speaker. He's out for revenge next year.

EARL TICKNOR, South Omaha team; Des Moines team. Age, 17; length of tongue, 2 inches; per cent hot air (we really wouldn't say); attitude on platform, girlish innocence; favorite expression, "They may say this but we demand figures."

Earl had a wonderful imagination, once imagining that a certain officer was convicted. He was a splendid debater and a good thinker. He debated on the Des Moines team with only 8 hours notice and his work was most effective.

GILBERT ELDRIDGE, Lincoln team. Age, 18; length of tongue, (lack of room prevents our stating); 3 per cent hot air; attitude on platform, self-reliant; favorite expression, "This will confute values."

Gilbert surpassed Henry George in knowledge of the Single Tax. He combined his knowledge with good thinking and was a very effective speaker. He developed wonderfully in the past year and was a star in the Lincoln debate.

WALFRED JACOBSON, South Omaha team. Age, 17; length of tongue, (unable to be measured); no hot air; attitude on platform, angry; favorite expression, "According to the law of physics."

Walfred would certainly have discovered the law of gravity had he lived before Sir Isaac Newton. The way he dictated the law of physics to the South Omaha team made them sit up and take notice. He was also a very good talker as well as a deep thinker.

BARNEY K., '13.
ORGANIZATIONS
The Literary Societies

Since the great Greek Demosthenes overcame the roar of the sea and conquered a stammering tongue it has required great practice to make great orators and debaters. Orators like poets may be born, but only with great labor and much effort do they both become sufficiently polished to be worthy to be exhibited in public.

For many years practice in public speaking has been gotten almost wholly through literary and debating societies in our colleges and universities. In recent years that High School practice of enlarging and broadening, has seized upon and appropriated this custom of the higher institutions.

It is now probably more than twenty years since the first debating and literary societies were organized in the Omaha High School. Of the societies in existence at present the Demosthenian Debating Society organized about fifteen or sixteen years ago is believed to be the oldest. Since that time the increase in number of societies and membership has been rapid and permanent until during the current year sixteen societies with a membership of 800 has been reached.

Three societies, the Demosthenian, Webster and Athenian have a membership of boys only, with debating as the chief, but not the only exercise. Nine societies, composed wholly of girls, the Browning, Hawthorne, Margaret Fuller, Lininger, Priscilla Alden, Frances Willard, Elaine, Pleiades, and Lowell, have for their programs a wider range of literary activity, including stories, essays, recitations, poems, story telling and other interesting exercises. The Latin, German, and Art Societies, with membership composed of both boys and girls, deal particularly with subjects indicated by the special names which these organizations bear. The Lam Ron Society, as its name spelled backward indicates, is composed of girls in the normal training course. The purpose of these girls is the study and discussion of subjects relating to teaching as their profession.

The pleasure and enjoyment of the intimate friendship between members in the same society, the benefit of active participation in the varied exercises and discussions with the far-reaching influence upon the future, the excitement of elections, the debate for the championship, the three large joint meetings with their splendid programs in the auditorium—all these are great.

May the societies live long and prosper.

THE YEAR'S DANCES
"SENIOR"

The social events for the High School this year opened on December twenty-third, when Herman Jobst and Perry Singles gave the "Senior Prom." The class colors, navy blue and gold, were used in decorating the hall. In each corner of the hall was a cozy corner, they having been chosen by the Larai, Les Hiboux, Ko Kunthian and Em-a-non Clubs. A large number of alumni were present, since they were home for Christmas and helped make an exceptionally large attendance. This dance is always looked forward to by everyone, as it comes first and opens the season for good times at High School.

"TREIS KAIDEKA"

On the twenty-sixth of December the Treis Kaideka gave a dance at Chambers. The decorations of brown and white, the club colors, made the hall look very pretty. The balcony and pillars were covered with brown and the two cozy corners were draped in the same colors. The programs for the evening were out of the ordinary for they were of brass, tied with brass rings, and had brown silk cords attached. This was the first large dance the club had given, and proved to be a grand success.

"LES HIBOUX"

The Les Hiboux dance was given on the last day of the year nineteen twelve. Two Les Hiboux cozy corners were in the north of the hall, and in the south was an electric lighted owl. The lights in the hall were covered with Japanese lanterns, giving an unusually pretty lighting effect. The balcony was decorated with silver owls, and the programs were grey with a black owl on them, and were tied with black ribbons. The programs were very unique and pleasing.

"MALTESE"

January third was the date set for the dance to be given by the Malteese Club, at the Rome. The decorations in the hall were American flags and palms. Programs of red leather with the name "Malteese" in gold were presented to each one. One feature which made this dance different from others was the fact that it was given at the Rome, and not at Chambers' as is customary. This dance was the closing dance of the Christmas vacation.

"JUNIOR"

Kenneth Norton and Herman Harte gave the Junior Prom at Chambers on January twenty-fourth. Cerise and white are the class colors, and were carried out in the decoration of the hall. The programs were white, with cerise edge and lettering. This dance never has a large attendance, but this year was better attended than usual.

"C. O. C."

On April eleventh, Foy Porter and Ralph Campbell gave the C. O. C. at Chambers. This is always the largest dance of the year, and everyone, especially the officers in the regiment, look forward to it with great interest. This year the different companies decorated places in the hall so that the room looked very attractive. A new feature in the decoration was the large Regimental banner at one end of the hall. Two cozy corners were selected by the Larai and Les Hiboux Clubs. During intermission there was the officers dance and also the taking of the picture of the officers and their partners. The hall was very crowded, but everyone had a most enjoyable time.

"KO KUNTHIAN"

On the twenty-ninth of May, the Kunthian club gave a dance at the Field Club. About fourteen Lincoln girls and some Lincoln boys were here to attend the dance. Over the entrance to the dance hall was the Ko Kunthian jin in electric lights. The programs were white leather, trimmed in green and gold. During intermission refreshments were served, at small tables in the dining room. About fifty couples were present.

NE NOTRIZ

The Ne Notriz Club gave a dance on June sixth at Happy Hollow. The dance hall was decorated with pink peonies. The club colors being lavender and yellow, lavender programs with gold printing, were used. Punch was served during the evening and during intermission refreshments were served in the dining room. About fifty couples were present.

A Pathetic Tale

Not a long time to come, I remember it well,
Alongside a poorhouse a maiden did dwell.
She lived with her parents, her life was serene.
Her age it was red, and her hair was nineteen.

Now this maid had a lover who nearby did dwell,
A cross-legged fellow and bow-eyed as well.
He said, “Let us fly by the light of yon star,
For you are the eye of my apple, you are.”

“Oh, no,” said the maiden. “Be cautious and wise,
Or my father will scratch out your nails with his eyes.
If you really love me, don’t bring me disgrace,”
Cried the maid, as she buried her hands in her face.

But when she refused him, he knocked down the maid,
And silently drew out the knife of his blade.
He then cut the throat of the maiden so fair,
And dragged her around by the head of her hair.

Just then her old father appeared, it appears,
And gazed on the scene with eyes in his tears.
He knelt down beside her, her pale face he kissed,
Then he rushed with his nose at the murderer’s fist.

He looked at the lover and told him to bolt,
He drew a horse pistol; ’twas raised from a colt.
He said, “Now I die, if I stay, it is true.”
He said, “Now I fly,” and he flew up the flue.
This school was established by the Board of Education to supply the demand for high-class business training under ideal conditions. Its success during the first year has been most pronounced, as evidenced by the interest of the pupils, the satisfaction of the patrons and success of the graduates in securing excellent situations.

Over 800 pupils have been enrolled the past year, requiring the services of thirty expert instructors. These teachers, half of whom are men, are graduates of leading colleges and universities and have taken business training in the best schools in the land. All of the men and many of the women have had actual business experience.

The Two-Year Course gives the pupil comprehensive training in Shorthand, Bookkeeping and Telegraphy and many other commercial subjects. The Four-Year Course includes the above but goes farther, giving training in English, Higher Accounting, Reporting, Salesmanship, Advertising, Commercial German, Industrial Chemistry, Applied Physics and other subjects.

Graduates from either course receive the highest type of training which fits them in proportion to the time spent, for positions as stenographers, bookkeepers, clerks, secretaries and managers. The Four-Year Course prepares for entrance to higher schools specializing in Business Administration.

The Principal's Office will be open all summer. Douglas 1835.

Jack: "That's a great chorus they have in the new show at the Krug."

John: "Yes, I knew the show was going to be a success before the curtain had gone up two feet."

Snooky: "Does Dorothy dance well?"
Ookums: "There is no room for improvement."

WE WANT TO KNOW

Why Mr. Reed didn't take down his own tent.
How G Company kept clean streets.
Who told the O-dix they were politicians.
Who named the camp.
If Leo thinks a majority is worth a fifth year's work.

WHY DIDN'T MARGARET GETTIN?

Mary: "Dorothy has been padding her thesis with irrelevant material."
Helen: "Humph, I suspected it all the time."

Louise (before the C. O. C.): "What will we do if they stop the Boston?"
Dorothea: "Oh, we will just grin and bear it."

Selby was right, that the last issue of the Register had not yet been printed.—Who wrote your speech, Jim?
